Battle Card

Market Garden

1944

European Theater of Operations.

During Operation Market Garden, Allied forces attempted to seize key bridges in the Netherlands to bypass German defenses. You take the role of the Allied forces and must secure a complete bridgehead for 30 Corps, otherwise you will be forced into a prolonged campaign that cannot be won.

Components

- 3d6 for the US units
- 4d6 for the German units
- 1d6 for 30 Corps
- 4d6 as Control markers
- 1d6 as a Turn die
- 1d6 for dice rolls

Setup

- There are four named Locations: Eindhoven, Grave, Nijmegen, Arnhem.
- Each Location has a space for an Allied unit, a space for a German unit, a space for Control, and a city symbol on the road for 30 Corps. Place one die as a control marker on each control space, with the 1 dice value face-up to indicate the Location is under German control.
- Dice ("units", hereafter) are placed on indicated spaces with matching Strength (dice value).
- German units are placed on striped spaces with brown dice values.
- Allied units on tan spaces with green dice values (the Allied space in Nijmegen does not begin with an Allied unit).
- Place the 30 Corps die in Belgium with any dice value face-up (the dice value will not be used during the game).
- Place the Turn die on the Fog space with the 1 dice value face-up.

Airdrop

Roll 1d6 to adjust the starting Strength for each Allied Unit.

- 1d6 -2 Strength
- 1d6 -1 Strength
- 1d6 No Change

Turn Structure

After completing the setup and Airdrop, repeat the turn structure below until the game ends:

1. Battle

Choose to Attack or Defend with each Allied unit. Resolve the battle for each Location separately.

Compare Allied and German Strength. The side with the higher value has Advantage.

Roll 1d6 and consult the appropriate Combat Results Table.

- German units can never be reduced below 1 (leave the unit on the board).
- If an Allied unit is reduced below 1

remove it from the board.

- If an Allied unit takes control of a Location, adjust the control die to 6 to indicate Allied control.

2. German Reinforcements

Start from the top Location on the map and work your way down, increasing each German unit Strength by 1.

If the German unit Strength is higher than the Allied unit Strength, and the Location is under Allied control, the Germans retake control (adjust the control die to 1 to indicate German control).

Only increase the German unit Strength in Nijmegen if Arnhem is under German control.

3. Allied Advance

You may choose to advance either 30 Corps or an Allied unit by moving it to an adjacent Location.

- 30 Corps can only advance if the Location it is moving to is under Allied control. Once 30 Corps moves to a Location, remove the German unit at the Location from play.
- An Allied unit can only advance if it begins in the same area as 30 Corps. If an Allied unit moves into an area with another Allied unit, sum their Strength (max 6) and discard one unit from the game.

4. 1st Airb. Reinforcement

Roll 1d6 and compare it to the Turn die's value. If the result is equal or lower than the Turn die's value, increase the Strength of the 1st Airborne Division (the Allied unit in Arnhem) by 1 and move the Turn die to the Clear space.

Once the Strength of the 1st Airborne Division has been increased, skip this step.

5. Advance Turn

Increase the value of the Turn die by 1.

Ending the Game

You Win if 30 Corps moves into Arnhem.

You Lose if an Allied unit is removed from the map due to combat or if the Turn die would advance beyond 6.
